TEACHERS' COMMITTEE PROVES BEESON EVADED THE TRUTH

Report Made to Board of Education Is Complete Vindication of the Standard—No New Teacher at the High School—Vacancies Filled by Board—Supt. Mills Qualifies His Statement of a Week Ago—F. E. Williams Elected as Board Member.

At the meeting of the city board of education held last night, F. E. Williams was selected as the representative of the First ward on the board, filling the position left vacant through the resignation of Hyrum Pingree, several weeks ago. The selection of Mr. Williams was by the unanimous vote of the four remaining board members, on motion of Director W. H. Williams, seconded by Director J. W. Loveladahl. F. E. Williams is a son of Edwin Williams of the Williams grocery store.

The first order of business last night, following the reading of the minutes of the previous session, was the presentation of the bond of Willard Ellis, treasurer of the city school system, for $50,000, signed by James Pingree and Job Pingree. This was accepted and approved by the board, on motion of Director Henderson.

A report from the teachers' committee, covering a special investigation as to the need of extra teachers in the high school, was next read and ordered filed. This report was as follows:

Standard Vindicated.

"Your committee, who visited the high school on Monday last, ascertained from the principal and program committee of said school, that it would not be necessary at this time for the board to employ an additional teacher at said school, and that the said principal and program committee of said high school had come to this conclusion last Friday. (Signed) W. H. WILLIAMS, J. W. LOVELADLAH, H. H. HENDERSON, Committee."

This confirms the Standard statement made last Saturday and places Supt. Mills and Principal Beeson in an unenviable position.

The teachers' committee, in a second communication, then recommended the employment of four teachers to fill vacancies: Miss Betty Noble in the Lorin Farr, Miss Blanche Murphy in the Pingree, Miss Myra McDonald in the Mound Fort, and Miss Prudence M. Faddis in the Madison school. The first three are to receive a salary of $450 and Miss Faddis, $500 per annum. Miss Jennie Calvert, according to the communication, is to be transferred from the Madison, to the Dee school and will be replaced by Miss Faddis.

Mills Crawfishes. After these communications had been passed upon, one submitted by Supt. J. M. Mills was read, as follows:

Gentlemen: "The number of incoming students at the high school, being much smaller than usual, and justifying the work by persuading students of the first year to take some of the second year subjects and eliminating beginning French and making consolidations in other cases, has obviated the necessity of another extra teacher in the high school. But two student assistants at a cost of from $7.50 to $10 per month each, will be necessary in the science department."

"Also consolidation at the Pingree school, where another teacher had been called for, allows us to organize without engaging one. It must be stated that it would be better for the school system not to make these adjustments, if it were not for our financial necessities."

"An unlooked-for increase in the attendance in the Lorin Farr school necessitates the engaging of a teacher for a half day."

This communication was ordered filed and Director Williams announced that he had received a communication from William Glasmann, which he would read at the next meeting. He stated, however, that it had been verbally answered through the investigation made by the teachers' committee.

On Military Drill.

In consideration of a request from the principal and cadet commandant of the high school, submitted by Supt. Mills, that immediate action be taken on the question of compulsory military drill at the high school, the school board decided to visit the school next Monday and go over the matter thoroughly. In connection with this request, the following communication was submitted:

"To the City Board of Education:—We, the program committee of the Ogden high school respectfully report that military drill can be given during the 7th period quite satisfactorily. We also recommend that in case of a direct conflict with a required subject, the military drill be postponed until a later year." (Signed) W. E. Archibald, R. C. Beeson, G. F. Roach, J. E. Beeson.

Resignation Presented. The resignation of Miss Iris L. Malone, from the teaching staff of the school system, to take effect Feb. 4th, was read and referred to the teachers' committee, with power to act.

Financial questions brought up at the meeting included a report from the clerk that a $20,000 school board loan had been paid off during the week and that $10,000 had been received from the Ogden city district tax fund. This left a balance on hand of $102,237.66. Of this, the clerk reported $15,444.89 was credited to the sinking fund.

After a discussion of the report, the school directors decided to open a sinking fund account at the Pingree National Bank, to be kept entirely apart from the other school funds. This is to be kept in the name of the "Ogden School sinking fund" and the board is to investigate ways and means to invest it.

JOHN M'GLINCHEY DIES IN IDAHO

John McGlinchey, pioneer fruit grower and well known in Ogden, died at his home in Payette, Idaho, January 12, aged 77. Mr. McGlinchey specialized on the famous Idaho pears and certain varieties of prunes which made him famous throughout the fruit belts of Colorado, Utah and Idaho and as a developer of the fruit industry in the inter-mountain region has part for thirty years was a most important one.

Mr. McGlinchey was the first grower of this region to place his products in New York and other eastern markets in competition with fruit of that section and the McGlinchey pears became as well known throughout the east as the Rockyford melons of Colorado.

Fifteen years ago he shipped a carload of Idaho prunes to Scotland, astonishing the exporters of two continents, and later supplied commission men in Paris with fresh fruit grown in this region.

DR. E. GOWANS IS TO SPEAK ON MILITARY DRILL AT SCHOOL

"Military Drill" will be the subject of an address by Dr. E. G. Gowans, state superintendent of education, at the meeting of the Sunday Night club in the Guild hall of the Church of the Good Shepherd, tomorrow evening, at 7:30 o'clock. The meeting is open to the general public, and at the close of the address, the usual opportunity for questions and discussions will be afforded. Mr. Hoffman will be the soloist.

Professor William G. Roylance, formerly professor of history in the University of Utah, will address the meeting, Sunday, February 6th, on "The European War and After."

DRUNK GOES TO SLEEP UNDER JUDGE'S BENCH

As proof positive that he was intoxicated, George Sheppard, a transient, entered the police station yesterday afternoon, crawled under the Judge's bench in the municipal courtroom and, as Police Chauffeur Nelson put it, "curled up like a snake" and fell asleep. He was discovered by Officer Nelson, who was startled by a loud snore as he passed the courtroom door about 4:30 p. m. This morning Judge Barker sentenced the offender to serve 10 days in jail.

Richard Roe and Mrs. Bessie Nixon, plain drunks, were given suspended sentences. John Doe, who was drunk and noisy when arrested, was fined $5.

PICTURE PLAY USED AS A WEAPON AGAINST PACIFISTS

When J. Stuart Blackton, head of the Vitagraph company, undertook to produce "The Battle Cry of Peace," he made it clear that the great picture pleaded for preparation against war.

For years all measures advocating proper military and naval defenses have been defeated in whole or in part by the influence of the "peace at any price" and "pacifist" fanatics because of the fact that the sponsors for such measures invariably stated that they were preparations for war.

For that reason Mr. Blackton insisted that the great navy and army for which he pleads in "The Battle Cry of Peace" is not to help the country to be ready for war, but to be able to protect itself against it.

Peace, like a jewel of great price, must be guarded lest the hand of the despoiled make away with it. No woman would leave her diamonds or a pearl necklace on the front porch when she retires for the night. Yet that is what the "pacifists" are asking the people of America to do—to leave their lives and their liberties, not to mention their wealth, the honor of their wives and daughters and the very existence of the nation, on the front doorstep while they dream of a distant millennium of universal peace.

"The Battle Cry of Peace" shows the bombardment of New York by a fleet of enemy battleships, the guns of which are of superior caliber to the fourteen inch guns of the coast defenses; the subsequent invasion of the city and the surrounding country by a hostile army, the resultant destruction to life and property and the numberless atrocities which invariably accompany the march of an invading army.

The American troops outnumbered their gunnaded, make a heroic but useless defense. They are blown to bits by the enemy's great howitzers and the invaders continue their triumphant march to where the rich cities of the middle west, undefended and helpless, lie waiting for the hand of the conqueror to wring them dry of their wealth, devastate the homes of their citizens and make a laughing stock of the honor of American women and a byword of American liberty.

With this terrible story Mr. Blackton flings down the gauntlet to the shortsighted and vainglorious "pac-lists" who decry preparedness—the kind "Who didn't raise their boys to be soldiers," and the kind of men who would rather see the money of the country going into almost anything than into big guns and ships to defend the lives and honor of American men and women.

The day of the warrior whose personal strength and courage could stand off an army has passed. This with the longest range gun and the most ammunition wins the fight. Courage and manhood are as necessary as ever, but neither the most manly nor the most courageous man in the world can remain alive in front of a machine gun.

It was to help defend our country and our people from the blight of war that "The Battle Cry of Peace" was conceived and in it the terrors and horrors of war are shown in order that the people may demand that they be protected from them. Such protection means aeroplanes, sea planes, battleships, battle cruisers, fast scout cruisers, seagoing submarines, heavy artillery for both the navy and the army, and lots of it, as well as thousands upon thousands of men trained and ready to serve the guns.

No man goes to certain death without any reason. No nation would dare to attack us if every nation knew that to do so would be to invite certain disaster.

As General Grant said: "In order to insure peace it is necessary always to be prepared for war."

Mr. Charles Richman, the well known American star, as John Harrison, a young American, plays the leading role in the photodrama. He is assisted by a notable company of screen stars. In addition are 25,000 members of the national guard of New York, 5,000 horses, 800 members of the G. A. R. and 8,000 supernumeraries, completing the greatest spectacle and the most dramatic story of contemporary American life that has ever been produced for the camera.

Woven through the momentous and overwhelming events of the picture is the beautiful romance of John Harrison and Virginia Vandersgriff, the daughter of the "pacifist" whose influence proved responsible for the destruction of New York.
